

American Journal of Neuroradiology Disclosure Statement

In order to ensure scientific objectivity and independence, the American Journal of Neuroradiology requires all authors to make a full disclosure of areas of potential conflict of interest. Such disclosure will indicate whether the person and/or his/her immediate family has any financial relationship with pharmaceutical companies, medical equipment manufacturers, biomedical device manufacturers, or any companies with significant involvement in the field of health care. A separate form must be completed for all co-authors.

Disclosure is not intended to prevent those with potential conflicts of interest from publishing; rather it places on record any relationship that may exist in the event a question arises relative to a manuscript. Accordingly, it is important that each disclosure statement be updated promptly to reflect any new relationships that arise after the initial submission of the statement. Such updating is the responsibility of each person who submits a statement.

All disclosures will remain confidential during the review process and the nature of any final printed disclosure will be determined by AJNR.
